

What is claimed is:

1. An inground lift for use in a lift bay having a lift bay floor, said lift comprising:
 - a. at least one vertically moveable jack having a distal end; and
 - b. structure configured to interact with said lift bay floor to transfer substantially all load placed on said distal end of said jack to said lift bay floor.